

Approved Contractor?

You have probably heard the phrase “approved contractor” many times and thought, what does it actually mean? We can’t vouch for every scheme, but we are approved by local county councils and Insurance Loss Adjuster panels, this means we have been externally audited on all our business systems, in particular on the following;

Health and Safety...Our policies are up to date and we conform to the CDM 2007 regulations. Our H&S Training and accreditations would also be assessed. We are a CHAS contractor, which is a Government run H&S accreditation.

Quality...The standard of our work is regularly reviewed and checked to make sure that it meets the high standards required.

Finances...Our accounts are checked and reviewed each year to ensure we are financially sound and able to take on large scale projects. You can be assured we will not be going out of business half way through a project!!

Systems...The way we manage projects are checked to make sure we are being efficient and safe. We also have to have procedures for quality management and complaints which are available on the website.
